Dr. Susan Shamos, Licensed Psychologist

Healthy families and children have always been an important focus of my work.

I have discovered that often families do not need extensive, expensive therapy.

Parents want a professional assessment of their own unique situation and guidance on how to handle it. A thorough evaluation is an important tool for parents in understanding their child and providing the most efficacious treatment.

I utilize a number of approaches to help children and their families communicate, heal and develop. I am comfortable with various therapies, as appropriate, including family systems, cognitive-behavioral, and psychodynamic in addition to art, play and sandtray therapy, which I find particularly useful in working with children.

The Parent Consultation Package includes:

- One hour interview with both parents
- One hour observation and interview with your child
- One hour session to review recommendations
- One hour follow-up session to review progress
- Three 15 minute telephone sessions
- A written report on findings and recommendations

The total value of these services is $593.75.

The Parent Consultation Package costs $300.
